No Gambling System Works
Pity the Poor Broker
Mussolini Said: No Noise
Farewell to King George

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

Dr. Bakst, young teacher of mathematics at Columbia University, thinks he has a sure formula for winning on horse races. "He tried it and won, 1000 times, not with money, just mentally."

Anybody can win mentally, they do it constantly at Monte Carlo and elsewhere, but nobody can win MONEY, except accidentally—never in the long run.

The clammy fact is that a crowd of geese take a certain amount of money to the track; they pay the expenses of racing, pay to get in, and pay to get out. Bookmakers, that started with nothing and live well, must have their share. Men cannot win when they always put in more than they take out. The only winning "system" on the race-track consists in pushing a sponge in the nostril of some unfortunate horse to prevent breathing, and make him lose, or stimulating him with drugs to make him go faster. Such "systems" are not for the ordinary public.

This column referred to "prosperous stockbrokers"; immediately one broker writes that American stockbrokers are removed a distance of several "light years" from the old prosperity. The stock boom has not meant profit for brokers. They cannot "break even" except on 1,500,000 share days, or better. Restrictions and regulations, brokers say, have driven business from the United States to British exchanges, Montreal, Toronto, London, where commission rates are 50 to 100 per cent greater than in New York; the London Exchange does from five to six million shares a day.

This is good news for those who think it desirable to destroy stock exchanges and stock brokers, not so good for others who believe that a liquid market for securities must be maintained, and that it is a good thing to keep American money, including brokers' commissions, in the United States.

Dr. Foster Kennedy, professor of clinical neurology at Cornell University, says deafness is caused by our noisy civilization. Ear troubles cause chronic ill health, and premature old age; sudden noises, steam whistles or explosions, are especially bad, in the shock to the nerves.

Mussolini did something about that in Rome. This writer, recently there, observed that automobiles in the old cities never blow their horns. Mussolini gave the order and it works perfectly. Automobile drivers make no noise, and do not run into each other, or into pedestrians. The result would be too unpleasant; Mussolini believes in discipline, and attention to instructions.

On Wednesday last, all British mourning for the late King George came to an end at the British court; "society hostesses" are preparing for the most brilliant festivities in many years.

The King, who left life and his throne on January 20, now takes his place in history among the good kings of England, and members of his family may attend theaters, receptions and balls. The King is dead, long live the King.

MANY IN N. E. WIN SWEEP PRIZES

Lady Luck smiled on all New England but particularly on Massachusetts today in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes drawing.

Ticket holders living in Roxbury, Lynn, Peabody, Quincy, Belmont, Plymouth, Avon, Whitman, Athol and Providence drew horses starting in the Cambridgeshire race next Wednesday and became potential winners of major prizes, $150,000, $75,000 and $50,000.

Many other New Englanders drew non-starters to win $2966.

Of the first 704 tickets drawn, residents of the United States held 321 and were named to share in the $8,044,825 being scattered around the world from the whirling drum of fortune in Dublin.

With the drawing of 992 tickets on 62 horses originally entered not yet completed, the following hold tickets on designated starters with a chance of winning one or another of the 48 first, second and third prizes if their horses win or finish "in the money."

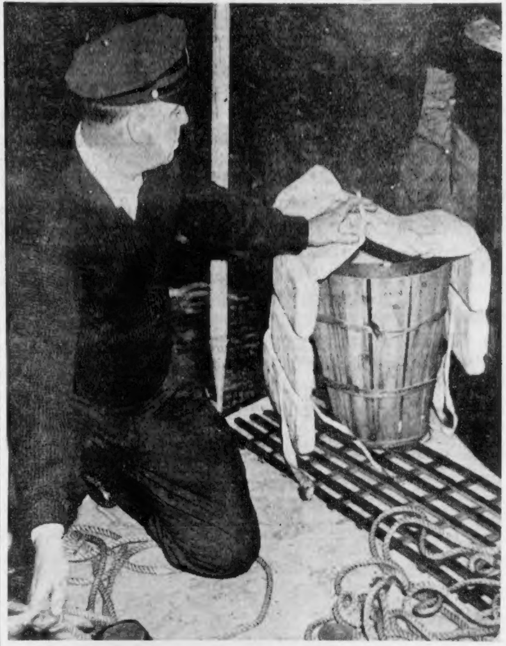
Sea Yields Missing Head



In this basket, covered with life preservers, is the woman's head, believed to be that of slain Grayce Asquith, which was found late today in Fort Point channel near the Congress street bridge. A police officer is guarding the grim find.

Widow's Head In Ft. Point Channel

The head of a woman, undoubtedly that of slain Grayce Asquith, was found today in Fort Point channel near the Congress street bridge on Boston's waterfront.

Police say they are certain it was that of the Weymouth "Merry Widow," whose dismembered legs were found off East Boston on Oct. 5.

It had been severed from the missing torso, at the base of the neck, as cleanly as by a guillotine.

Immediate positive identification was impossible. The flesh was badly decomposed.

The hair appeared to be dark brown. Mrs. Asquith was a "bleached blonde;" the action of the salt water, police said, would have restored the original color of the hair.

The terrible find—predicted to "break" the baffling sack murder—was made by members of the crew of the Boston police-boat, Watchman.

The Watchman was dragging east of the bridge on the Atlantic avenue side near a raft anchored off the coal wharf of the Coleman Disposal Company—seeking possible victims of the early morning autoplunge into the channel—when its grappling irons hooked and brought the head to the surface.

On board the Watchman at the time were Patrolmen John J. Smith, Daniel Doyle and Fred Collins and Engineer William Walker of the harbor police.

They drew the head alongside, covered it and placed it in a fruit basket.

NEWS FLASHED TO POLICE

The police boat was anchored at the spot where the find was made, and over the two-way radio telephone this message was flashed to the headquarters station:

"Patrolman Doyle calling. I want to talk to Lieutenant Dunn. I have a very, very important message for him."

Lieutenant Lawrence H. Dunn was at the headquarters end of the radio in three minutes, and Doyle flashed:

"Patrolman Doyle speaking. They found the head of that woman."

At the scene, within five minutes, were Police Commissioner Eugene M. McSweeney, Lieutenant Dunn, State Detectives Stokes, Farrari and Dempsey and Homicide Captain John McCarthy, while radio sought the whereabouts of Superintendent Edward W. Fallon.

The word spread swiftly along the waterfront and in no time at all a silent crowd had gathered, strung along the north rail of the channel.

TWO WOMEN FAINT

Two women heard the news and fainted, and were rushed to Haymarket Relief station.

Twenty-five detectives and 35 uniformed policemen were ordered to the scene.

Dr. William J. Brickley, medical examiner, whose hypothetical reconstruction of the victim from the recovered legs so closely fitted that of Mrs. Asquith, was notified.

LANDON CALLS ON 'REAL DEMOCRATS' FOR SUPPORT

URGES THEM TO JOIN BATTLE TO SAVE GOVERNMENT

LAUDS SMITH, DAVIS, REED AND ELY FOR THEIR COURAGE

By WILLIAM R. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Oklahoma City, Oct. 23 (INS) — Charging President Roosevelt with having forfeited all claims of allegiance from those who believe in the principles of the Democratic party, Governor Alfred M. Landon made a bold bid here today for the support of independent Democrats.

The Republican nominee urged faithful Democrats to place love of country above party fealty and repudiate the Roosevelt administration.

He urged Democrats generally to follow the lead of two of their recent party candidates for President—John W. Davis and Alfred E. Smith—and vote a protest against the "attempt made by this administration to change the fundamental principles of our American government."

Landon spoke to thousands jammed into the Coliseum, after a parade through downtown streets. He was introduced by former Governor William H. Murray, who declared he could no longer stand for Roosevelt policies.

Desperately Worried

Earlier, Landon delivered a blistering personal denunciation of Roosevelt policies and campaign tactics. He charged the President with seeking reelection while concealing facts about his administration.

He accused the Executive of "dissipating the people's resources through waste, graft and incompetence," and with "using the people's money directly and indirectly to secure his re-election."

Here he charged the administration was "desperately worried," and turning to coercion in a final effort to win. He declared the Works Progress Administration was being used "ruthlessly" to manufacture votes in California and New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma as well as in other sections of the nation.

Landon began by praising the courage of former Governor Murray, a Democrat, in introducing him. He said:

"Only a threat to our form of government, itself, could cause a man like Governor Murray to take this step and join that distinguished group of Americans who are putting their country above their party name."

Then he listed John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924; Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee in 1928; Bainbridge Colby, Wilson's Secretary of State; former Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Lewis W. Douglas director of the budget in the early days of the Roosevelt administration.

The full text of Governor Landon's speech follows:

Recalls Old Times

Paying a visit to Oklahoma and to your city is always a genuine delight to me. It is like visiting with a next-door neighbor who has been an intimate friend for many years.

Your state and my state are neighbors. We understand each other. We know each other's problems.

More than that—I have many warm personal associations with your state. Today I count many of my closest friends among the people of Oklahoma.

I first worked in Oklahoma as a very young man nearly 30 years ago. That was on a pipe line gang. We were putting in a line both north and south of McAlester. I remember my first travels through your state. I can remember to this day what a treat it was to get into McAlester on a Sunday.

I didn't even have a horse and buggy. I rode in an old-fashioned buckboard. It was pretty hard going in those days. We were doing well if we averaged six miles an hour. A little later we got the automobile. But it still took us four hours to drive through the osage country from Bartlesville to Pawhuska.

Now it has become a simple job to journey several hundred miles in a single day. So I have seen with my own eyes our communities and states drawn closer and closer together.

I have been in almost every part of this state. I am well acquainted with it from the Western Panhandle to the Kiamichi Mountains.

More than that. I am one of you. I pay taxes in Oklahoma. And I frequently run down to look over my leases and properties in your state.

So talking to Oklahomans is not a new experience for me. But it is a new and a most gratifying experience to be introduced by your distinguished former governor, William H. Murray.

Governor Murray has a record of service that goes far beyond his splendid record as governor.

He represented the people faithfully and well throughout his long and distinguished service in Congress. He was president of the convention that gave Oklahoma its present constitution.

Governor Murray has won national recognition as a liberal and a progressive. But all his life he has been a straight party Democrat. His political friends and associates have always been in the Democratic party.

He has suffered many attacks at the hands of Republicans—and he has returned them blow for blow, as the Republicans well remember.

Hard Task

There are many people in this country who are not closely affiliated with either party. Sometimes they vote Republican, sometimes they vote Democratic.

But for a strict party man there has been but one standard of political conduct—party regularity. You people of Oklahoma fully realize what loyalty to the Democratic party has meant in this state.

You know, therefore, what it means when a former Democratic Governor with a life-long record of party regularity introduces the Republican nominee for the presidency. It means severing political friendships of long standing.

It means opening himself to political penalties in the years to come. It means endangering the whole political fate of many of his loyal supporters of the past.

This is not an easy thing to do. Only one who has been in politics can appreciate fully how great the issue must be to cause a recognized leader to leave his party. Only a threat to our form of government itself could cause a man like Governor Murphy to take this step.

If it were merely that I am his friend, that I am a neighbor from an adjoining state on the north, that I know your state and your problems almost as well as I know Kansas, Governor Murray would not have done this.

Put Loyalty First

He would not now be a member of that distinguished group of Americans who are putting their country above their party name. I mean John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee for President in 1924; Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee for President in 1928; Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State in the Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson; Joseph Ely, who recently finished his term as Democratic Governor of Massachusetts; James A. Reed, former Senator from Missouri; Lewis W. Douglas, former Representative at large from your neighbor state of Arizona, and director of the budget in this administration until he no longer could go along with its financial policies.

These are only a few. There are a host of others.

As I say, these Democratic leaders have put loyalty to country above fealty to a party name. They have been moved not alone by principles, but by a desire to save the Democratic party itself. And they have not been alone in this. Countless other Democrats feel as strongly as they do.

States' Rights

They have made no open break but they will state their position emphatically at the ballot boxes next month. Their feelings are strong enough to make them rise above the party name even though it means breaking political habits of a lifetime.

When they go to the polls they will not alone be protesting the attempt made by this administration to change the fundamental principles of our American government. They will be rejecting a man who has attempted this change without a mandate from either the citizens of this country or his own party convention.

Democrats have joined Republicans in resisting this attack on the very foundation of our political structure. It is not surprising that former political differences have been forgotten—that men and women of all parties have joined forces to turn out an administration that violates its oath to support and uphold the Constitution of the United States.

Every citizen has the right to criticize. Every citizen has the right to his own opinion. But this is far different from the deliberate attempt of the chief executive to break down the confidence of our people in the integrity and independence of the Supreme Court.

And it is only natural that real Democrats should join Republicans in the defense of state's rights—of home rule—against greater centralization of power in Washington. The party of Jefferson has always been the jealous guardian of state's rights.

One of the best defenses of state's rights in recent years was made by the Democratic governor of one of our great States. He pointed out that our country was too vast, its regional interests and conditions too diversified, to be fitted into a straitjacket tailored in Washington.

This convincing statement was made by a governor of the great State of New York. But he made this statement when he was only a candidate for the presidency—when he still talked the policies and beliefs of the Democratic party.

Once in office these policies and beliefs were forgotten. As candidate he looked in one direction; as President he looks in another.

This has been true not only of his attempts to create a one-man government of sweeping and unlimited powers, but of his financial, social and economic policies as well.

Farm Problem

In the program of the present administration there are none of the historic stands of the Democratic party. To real Democrats, respect for the Constitution, respect for the rights of states, have been more than mere theories.

They have been cherished because of their practical application to our daily lives. They guarantee those personal liberties that American citizens possess to a greater degree than the people of any other nation on earth.

Here in Oklahoma, you have been particularly interested in the plans of this administration for solving the growing farm tenancy problem.

This should have been one of the first problems attacked by this administration. But you know that so far it has been talk, not action. In fact, this administration has made the tenancy problem worse through its large payments to big land owners.

The Republican program would limit such benefits to the family type of farm. It would not help corporation farmers concentrate land ownership still further.

The farm tenancy problem is one of the most serious long-time problems confronting the nation. It is more than just a farm problem. It touches every state, every section and every field of endeavor, and there is no problem that I am more eager to solve.

Our national welfare demands that this situation be corrected. If history teaches us anything, it teaches that the stability of civilization depends upon ownership of the land by the man who works the land.

The owner-operated farm is the foundation of a sound agriculture.

It is our pledge to extend, within the limits of sound finance, adequate credit at reasonable rates to capable tenants and experienced farmers, for the purchase or refinancing of farm homes.

Protection of the family type of farm is the philosophy that runs like a thread through the Republican platform. It is in keeping with the American tradition, which is based upon preserving individual opportunity.

And we must preserve that opportunity if our farm boys and girls are to make the farm their homes and farming their life work.

With the election less than two weeks away the present administration is desperately worried. It knows that it will not be re-elected if it depends upon voluntary support. So it has turned to coercion.

You in Oklahoma know how the WPA was used ruthlessly in your recent primary campaign. It is the same story in every state. The facts were given me in the eastern and central states.

I heard the same report this week while going through New Mexico. I heard it in California. I heard it in Arizona. But I know that American voters cannot be bullied into voting for any party.

"Real Democrats"

The Democrats of Minnesota were sold down the river. At the last minute their major state candidates deserted the people who nominated them in an effort to swing votes to an extreme left-wing group.

The Democrats in Nebraska have suffered a like experience. One of the principal candidates—the nominee to the United States Senate—has been deliberately spurned by the present administration.

The present administration in Washington is not a Democratic administration at all. It has forfeited all claims of allegiance from those who still believe in the principles of that great party.

In Oklahoma, and in many other states the real Democrats hold the balance of power.

In this year of great decision it will be their courage, their sense of duty, their willingness to place loyalty to country above mere party regularity, that will determine whether their states share in the honor of saving American institutions.

The present administration has endangered these institutions. It has deserted the principles for which the Democratic party has always stood.

And real Democrats, I know, will fight shoulder to shoulder with us in this battle to save our American form of government and our country.

DOUBLE VOTING UNDER PROBE

Charges that a number of persons living in Ward 21, Brighton, and registered on the voting lists there are also registered in several small towns in the state were made today by Attorney Theodore P. Hollis.

Hollis said that the Republican State Committee, which he represents, has already names of seven persons against whom such charges will be filed with the Boston Election Commission.

Two of this group are registered in Burlington and other places, he said, although their voting residences are in Brighton. There are scores of other similar cases now being investigated, he added.

Tavern owners in the smaller communities have been most active in these illegal enrollments, Hollis asserted, and criminal prosecution will be sought prior to election day, a week from next Tuesday.

At the same time the Republican probers extended the scope of their activity with the filing of complaints against registrations of several Chelsea voters. Hearing on these protests is to be held in Chelsea tonight.

The name of Ivers J. Rutherford of 1568 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, was restored to the voting lists after he had appeared before the election commission with his landlord, Joseph Kennedy. He was removed from the lists on complaint of the Republican state commission that he was an illegal registrant.

The Senator

Everybody Seems So Irked

"Timmy," says The Senator, waving a set-up of the best for all concerned, "have any of the boys with red faces been in today?"

"Senator," says Timmy, pouring by the numbers, "if you mean birds with beaks there have been only the usual number."

"That, Timmy," says The Senator, "was not exactly what I meant. I had in mind the Is-my-face-red flush. Because so many of the boys are embarrassed. You might call this the open season on the finer sensibilities. Even I, Timmy—even I am embarrassed."

The Senator

At this all of the boys sip quietly because it is easy to see The Senator is preparing in his own inimitable way to sound off.

"Timmy," says The Senator, preparing in his own inimitable way by snaffing his snucker in a gulp, "Martin Hays is embarrassed, Paul Dever is embarrassed, Billy McMasters is embarrassed, Levvy Saltonstall is embarrassed, Billy Madden is embarrassed, Dr. Santosuosso is embarrassed, Cabot Lodge is embarrassed, Governor Jim is embarrassed and I, Timmy, I am embarrassed, too."

"Senator," says Timmy, "I hozie Martin Hays first."

"Well, Timmy," says The Senator, "Martin's embarrassment took place on Tuesday night last when, in his Park Vale avenue apartment house, hard by his own door, he was aroused by loud voices and merry music. It was very apparent that a shindig was in progress in his own building and he ventured to investigate. What he discovered was his neighbor throwing a Mike Ward rally."

Behind the Brush

"Timmy" says The Senator, motioning for another round, "what embarrassed Billy McMasters, Union Party candidate for Governor, was the response to his invitation to other candidates to share his radio time. A large flock of Communist and Socialist candidates appeared.

"Paul Dever is deeply embarrassed by Governor Jim having given his Republican opponent, Judge Felix Forte, such a pat on the back, and many of the attorney-general's crowd are frothing at the mouth on this account.

"Acting Mayor John I. Fitzgerald—there's one I almost forgot—is being embarrassed by friends who wish to know the exact words he used while in front of the microphone at the Roosevelt Common rally when he was trying to locate Arthur J. O'Keefe in order to borrow a fountain pen.

"Levvy Saltonstall, Timmy, is embarrassed on two counts. One concerns the report of his own observers that in the Greenfield district there are many anti-Saltonstall Republican votes as a result of the Haigis-Saltonstall pre-primary convention fight. The other is John Henderson's organization of the League of Republican Friends of Francis E. Kelly, which claims 8000 Republicans working for Kelly.

"The strangest embarrassment, Timmy, is that of Senator Billy Madden who is running for Congress. This is because he cannot find his opponent, the incumbent, Congressman Tinkham, who he suspects is somewhere in the veldt shooting lions.

"Dr. Santosuosso, Timmy, the Democratic candidate for secretary of state, is embarrassed not only by the discovery that his advertising copy is being written by Billy McMasters, but that it is good copy.

"The embarrassment of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., results from the discovery that in certain quarters well-meaning friends are arguing his in-law relatives as a reason why he should receive the solid Italian-American vote.

"And Governor Jim, Timmy," says The Senator, sliding off the bar stool, "Governor Jim's embarrassment is more potential than anything else right now. It concerns the big Charlie Hurley banquet at Mechanics Building Sunday and the possibility that Governor Jim will be given the leg on the radio time there."

"Senator," says Timmy, "you have not yet told us what is your own embarrassment."

"Timmy," says The Senator, ducking for the door, "my own embarrassment is financial. Cuff it all till Tuesday."

POLICE GRAPPLING IRONS PULL IT OUT OF WATER

He ordered that the head be taken to the Southern Mortuary. The Watchman chugged into the wharf adjacent to Congress street bridge and the basket containing the head was given to Captain McCarthy, who sped with it to the morgue, where Dr. Brickley was waiting.

DIVER SUMMONED

Commissioner McSweeney, at the scene, declared:

"This is a great break. These men on the Watchman are to be commended and I shall see that it is done."

Police sent for Diver Fred Wallace to explore the channel bottom at the point where the Watchman's grapples hooked the head.

It is now believed that all portions of Mrs. Asquith's body were dropped into the channel from one of the bridges, either Congress street or Summer street, and were swept downstream by the ebb tide, the legs floating to the shore off the airport and Governor's Island, where two weeks ago Monday, in separate burlap wrappings, they were found.

Wallace will seek the torso and arms from the Congress street bridge downstream to the mouth. The Northern avenue bridge lies between the point where the head was found and the place where the channel empties into the harbor proper.

Chance use today of a new device "Teledictaphone" recorded the Watchman-Police Headquarters conversation verbatim after the grim finding. This is it:

"Patrolman Doyle calling. I want to talk to Lieutenant Dunn. I have a very important message for him. I have a very, very important message."

Dunn: "This is Lieutenant Dunn."

"WE FOUND HEAD"

Voice: "Patrolman Doyle speaking. They found the head of that woman."

Dunn starts to talk.

Voice: "Go ahead, lieutenant. Hello, lieutenant. (Noisy interruption.) Wait a minute. Stand by for a moment."

Pause, then continue:

"Lieutenant Dunn, this is station WIXAR."

Dunn: "This is Lieutenant Dunn."

Voice: "I found the head of that woman."

Dunn: "You found the head?"

Voice: "Yes. Stand by for a moment."

Headquarters radio dispatcher Robert McGeough breaks in.

Voice: "I want Lieut. Dunn here at the Congress street bridge. Tell him to come here. We found the head of that woman. (More noise, voices, etc.) We are at Congress street bridge. We'll stand by here."

McGeough: "O. K. Stand by. Boston police signing off at 2:09 p. m. This is Station WIXAR."

CLEAVER IS FOUND

With the head in the possession of Dr. Brickley detectives said that an identification and homicide should be quickly established and the case brought to a quick solution.

The weapon which killed Mrs. Asquith—a kitchen meat cleaver—was found less than 48 hours ago, it was learned, in a hiding place in her bungalow on the short of Whitman Pond, East Weymouth.

Also in police possession today were new clues definitely supporting the theory that John Albert Lyons, Mrs. Asquith's Back Bay war veteran admirer, was slain at the same time as was the woman victim.

With evidence in their hands thus supplemented, police were able today to reconstruct to their own satisfaction the double murder act.

They say the killings were accomplished as follows:

Mrs. Asquith and Lyons were seated side by side, at the table in the cottage dining room, just off the kitchen.

They were drinking, had been drinking for some time, and were intent upon their own conversation.

The slayer, who was well acquainted with the layout of the cottage, tip-toed toward the seated couple, cleaver in hand.

Their backs were toward him. They couldn't see him.

Silently and mercilessly he swung his weapon, crashing it down on the head of Mrs. Asquith, who was seated nearest him on the outside of the dining room bench.

MURDERER QUICK

Then as Lyons half rose, bewildered by the suddenness of the attack, the cleaver struck him down in his turn.

The blow which had felled Mrs. Asquith had been a glancing one.

Bleeding and terrified, she tried to run for her bedroom where a heavy door bolt might make it possible for her to barricade herself.

But the murderer was too quick and too relentless for her. Grimly intent on finishing his bloody deed, he pursued his victim and hit her again and again.

Maybe Lyons was already dead. Maybe he, too, had to be "finished."

RIPPED CLOTHING

When he had been silenced forever his body was left temporarily where it had fallen.

The slayer's first thought was to hide evidence of Mrs. Asquith's murder.

To this end he ripped and cut the clothing from her body.

Some of her garments he tore off. Others he cut with a razor blade.

Then he dumped the unclad, lifeless figure in the bathtub. Perhaps he began the dissection at once. More probably he put it off until later.

Lyons' body the slayer dragged from the cottage into an automobile for subsequent disposition.

Possibly he weighted it and threw it in the ocean. Much more probably he carried it to a hiding place in some wood and thicket or swamp.

Then back he went to the "Merry Widow's" Alpine road, Weymouth, cottage and the gruesome work of cutting apart and wrapping Mrs. Asquith's body.

That, piece by piece, went into the harbor, where the legs and lower torso were to be discovered October 5, giving authorities first knowledge that the crime had been committed.

So much for the hypothetical reconstruction of the double murder.

Now for the evidence on which police based their theorizing of today.

The cleaver, bearing stains which appear to be blood, was found in a cranny behind a dish cupboard in the murder cottage pantry.

It had been dropped down between the back of the cupboard and the wall.

The position of the bloodstains on the cottage walls enabled police to guess with seeming sureness where the first blows were struck and how Mrs. Asquith ran from room to room in a vain attempt to escape her doom.

Spatters of blood in the dining nook also convinced police that Lyons was sitting there beside Mrs. Asquith and that he, too, was felled there by the cleaver.

BUTTONS IDENTIFIED

Condition of Mrs. Asquith's garments, found on the cottage floor, showed them to have been slashed with some very keen edged instrument.

That instrument, a razor blade, was found in the ashes of the fireplace.

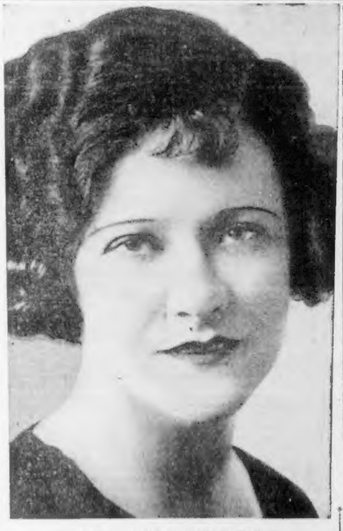
Also in those ashes were found three brown buttons and four steel buttons that had once been black.

A close friend of Mrs. Asquith identified the brown buttons as having fastened one of the "Merry Widow's" pajama jackets.

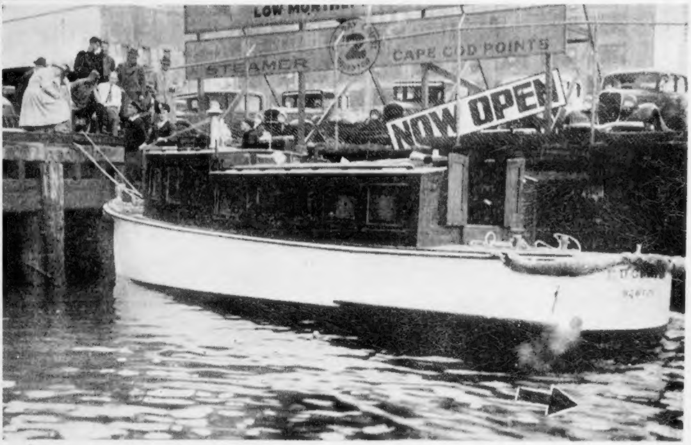
The four steel buttons were identified by another witness as from a pair of gray trousers worn by Lyons on the night of the murder.

There also remained, in the cottage fireplace, several unburned bits of the gray material of Lyons trousers.

Police believed today that these trousers were deliberately placed in the fireplace for subsequent discovery, in order that suspicion of police might be directed wrongly to Lyons.



MRS. GRAYCE ASQUITH



This scene was taken at the Congress street bridge today, shortly after members of the Boston policeboat, Watchman, brought to the surface the head of woman, possible that of Mrs. Grayce Asquith. Arrow indicates spot near where the hideous find was dragged from the ocean's bottom. The policeboat E. U. Curtis is shown standing by.

spect Germany's air preparations were amazed to find airplane factories scattered all over Germany, with two bigger in floor space and number of workers than all American factories put together.

England seems to have known about this, for, in addition to building 1500 more fighting planes for herself, she is ordering planes from the United States, where large airplane factories are closed. Uncle Sam, if wise, would open them and keep them busy.

In Canada, a thoughtless man died, leaving $750,000, all to go to the Toronto woman having the greatest number of children in a certain number of years. Nothing was said about quality, about the children's health, or the physical welfare of the mothers, only numbers were to count.

The appeal was strongest for the poorest women, least able to care for large families. One mother, who hopes to win, said she would take only one tenth of the $750,000, enough for any family. She would be surprised to learn how quickly $75,000 or $750,000 becomes too little.

That will, tempting women to bring into the world children that should not be here, might well have been set aside on grounds of public policy.

TUESDAY NAVY DAY

Thousands to Visit Yard Here

The United States Navy will be "at home" Tuesday to celebrate Navy Day.

Thousands are expected to inspect the Boston Navy Yard at the invitation of Rear Admiral W. R. Gherardi, commandant of the first naval district. Observance of the day coincides with the birthday of the navy's staunchest advocate, "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Rear Admiral Gherardi, emphasizing the need of "becoming better acquainted with our navy," said:

"The activities of the Navy will go on as usual on Navy Day, but arrangements will be made to receive the public in order that they may, by personal observation, become better acquainted with our navy and its purposes. All other Navy and Marine corps branches in the vicinity of Boston will maintain open house."

"Sea Power—What Is It?" is the slogan of this year's observance throughout the nation, and Rear Admiral Gherardi and his aides are preparing to answer that question for New England's citizenry.

The Navy Yard will be open from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. The U. S. S. Quincy, five modern destroyers and the U. S. frigate Constitution will be open for inspection, and two bronze plaques marking the site of the landing of British troops at the battle of Bunker Hill will be unveiled at 11 a. m.

Al Smith Charges:

Deal Has Put U. S. In Poorhouse

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Chicago, Oct. 23 (US)—President Roosevelt has spent vast public funds like a dictator, former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York charged in a speech here.

He asserted that the New Deal administration had plunged the country toward insolvency and piled a staggering burden of taxes on the backs of the common people.

Cheered by vast crowds that lined the streets, and greeted with ringing applause by an audience that packed Chicago's Civic Opera House, Smith declared that millions of Jeffersonian Democrats will "march to the polls on November 3 and assure the return of common sense and sensible administration to the White House by voting for Governor Alfred M. Landon."

Smith, in a dramatic climax of his speech, took up President Roosevelt's recent analogy of the New Deal planned economy to a football game.

He said that in the New Deal "huddles," they probably decided to "kick the brains" out of the business men and "pull the leg off" the taxpayers. He then exclaimed:

"The mortal sin of it all is that the rank and file of the American people are the football."

ROAR APPROVAL

The people of America are determined to be rid of this wasteful and extravagant game, Smith asserted, adding with emphasis:

"On November 3, millions and millions of Jeffersonian Democrats, who believe in the fundamentals of genuine democracy, are going to decide to let the New Deal play football.

"They are determined to have a safe, sane, common sense administration of ability and integrity under Governor Alfred M. Landon, of Kansas."

As Smith made his forthright plea for the election of Landon, containing the first positive intimation of his belief that the Kansan will be elected, the crowd rose and cheered its approval.

This was the third speech delivered by the man who was four times the Democratic governor of New York and once his party's candidate for president.

In this speech, as in the others, Smith assailed President Roosevelt for allegedly breaking practically all the platform pledges on which he was elected.

In this, even more forcefully than in his New York and Philadelphia addresses, Smith made a dramatic plea to people of every political party to "drive the New Dealers out of office."

He declared:

"I never came to Chicago as strong a Democrat as I am today and, for a very good reason. Because I am actually helping to save the Democratic party and the nation."

IN POOR HOUSE

Smith said that when Roosevelt was a candidate for president and when the nation had a debt of about 20 billion dollars, Roosevelt said he would make the nation solvent if elected. Smith exclaimed:

"Are we solvent today? We owe $34,000,000,000—fourteen billions more than we did four years ago when that statement was made.

"Why, according to his own words, the sheriff is waiting outside the door for us."

Declaring that vast sums of money from the federal treasury have been allotted by the White House to projects which Congress refused to approve, former Governor Smith charged:

"What does that mean?

"It means dictatorship."

Where did the enormous borrowing by the government lead finally? Smith demanded to know.

He quoted the President as saying in Albany four years ago that any government, like any family, that spends more than it earns will eventually land in the poor house. Smith added:

"I submit we are already there."

Declaring that the "crushing load of taxes" will be paid by the rank and file of the people and that the New Deal's philosophy on "soak the rich" is futile, Smith asserted:

"Well, who owes it? We do.

"Who is going to pay for it? We are.

"Why, you know, when I hear this talk about soaking the rich, if we took all the rich men in the coutry and stood them on their heads and took everything away from them including their undershirt, you could not begin to pay any part of it."

He said that when the President said the national debt and cost of government were to be paid out of "increased income," Roosevelt was saying in effect to the people:

"The more you make, the more we take."

Pesident Roosevelt's assertion that the $2,000,000,000 bonus debt is out of the way was heatedly denied by Smith. He said:

"We borrowed the money, and we owe it."

DEAL HINDERS RECOVERY, SAYS SALTONSTALL

By L. CONANT, JR.

A clarion challenge that the voters of this state "will not be lulled" into forgetting the real issues of the campaign was voiced today by Leverett Saltonstall, Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor.

"We in Masschusetts," he declared, "have seen our attempts for sound industrial recovery thwarted by the trade agreements negotiated by the present administration.

"We have suffered under a government which has refused to give us protection against the sweat-shop labor of low-scale living countries.

"DON'T FORGET RECORD"

"The very life blood of Massachusetts is dependent upon her industries.

"Through the election of Governor Landon, backed with the support of such men as Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., for senator and John W. Haigis, for governor, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will once again be given the opportunity to rebuild her industries.

"In the final excitement of this campaign, the voters of Massachusetts will not be lulled into forgetting the hardships wrecked upon the state by the discriminatory policies of the present administration.

"Our Democratic opponents are shouting about everything else in the world but the record of the present Democratic administration on Beacon Hill."

At rallies in Worcester, Brockton, Stoughton, Randolph, Roxbury and the Boston City Club large and enthusiastic audiences continued to turn out to greet the state ticket.

The size of the crowds and the demonstrations accorded the candidates have been pointed to by political observers as a clear proof of the great Republican tide in the state.

At Roxbury Lodge was roundly cheered when he was introduced to a large Jewish gathering by Representative Samuel H. Cohen.

HAIGIS IN BROCKTON

Speaking at Brockton, Haigis pledged that as governor of the Commonwealth he would oppose the continuance of policies "designed to threaten and lower the working and living standards of our workers."

He said the manufacturers and workers in America can not be expected to compete with the cheap underpaid labor of foreign countries without doing irreparable injury to the American people.

He declared that during 1935 the shoe manufacturing of Czecho-Slovakia sent into the United States over a million and a half pairs of shoes with a wholesale value of less than 80 cents a pair.

"You people in Brockton know the type of shoes that can be manufactured at a wholesale value of less than 80 cents a pair by American citizens entitled to live according to our American standards," he said.

"The Republican platform adopted at the Republican state convention in June pledges itself to protective legislation and to every constitutional effort in behalf of the wage earners.

"I stand four square in spport of that platform. I favor fair wages and reasonable hours of labor for the workingmen of this state.

"In addition to this, I favor the protection of the women and children who work for a living in this state in respect to maximum hours of labor, minimum wages and working conditions."

PRESS FOR HAIGIS

An important development was the endorsement of Haigis by Walter A. Laverty, former president and a director of the Boston Press Assistant's Union, I. P. P. of N. A.

He hailed the Republican gubernatorial nominee as a "true friend of labor."

Tonight's rallies take the state ticket into Milton, Quincy, Weymouth, Cambridge, Somerville and West Roxbury.

"Pauper" Threats Held Down Maine Vote, Is Charge

Washington, Oct. 23 (INS)—Thousands of voters on relief rolls in Maine remained away from the polls in the recent primary election because they feared they would be classed as paupers and denied the right to vote, the Senate campaign funds committee reported today.

Senator Lonergan (D.) of Connecticut, chairman of the committee, said that Attorney General Clyde R. Chapman, of Maine, had misinterpreted his own state laws.

Both Republicans and Democrats, a committee official said, used "intimidating tactics" to prevent unfriendly relief workers from casting their ballots.

Under the Maine law, Chapman ruled, a person on emergency relief is deemed a pauper. A pauper cannot vote.

But, the Lonergan committee said in a statement, Maine amended the act in 1933 to provide that no person shall be considered a pauper if he receives the benefit of public funds.

GREEN, LABOR CHIEF, ENDORSES CURLEY

By WILLIAM C. CONWAY

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today indorsed the senatorial candidacy of Governor James M. Curley.

Announcement of indorsement of the head of organized labor in the country was made at the noon-day forum in Washington street by John F. Gatelee, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor when he read a letter sent him by President Green.

The letter from President Green read in part:

"I wish to appeal to the organized wage earners and their sympathetic friends to use every effort to bring about the election of Governor Curley to the United States Senate.

"It is for this reason that I am appealing to you to work and vote for the election of a sincere friend of labor, Governor James M. Curley."

The indorsement of President Green was hailed today by the Curley forces in the state as the greatest boost given the governor's candidacy since the campaign opened.

Convinced that President Roosevelt's visit to Massachusetts has started the Democratic cause on the upward swing in this state the Democratic state ticket candidates will carry their battle for ballots into the territory visited by the President.

Democratic party leaders have scheduled rallies for tonight in Fall River, New Bedford, Taunton and Somerset, places where huge throngs gathered to catch a glimpse of the nation's Chief Executive on his campaign swing through the state.

Governor James M. Curley, State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley and other candidates on the state ticket are in accord in their belief that the President's visit has given the Democratic cause in Massachusetts the impetus needed to carry them over the election hurdles.

Plans for a gigantic testimonial dinner to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate have been completed by a committee of Suffolk County Democrats, headed by City Councillor John H. Dowd of Roxbury.

The dinner to State Treasurer Hurley is scheduled for next Sunday night in Mechanics Hall.

What Landon Stands For:
The Constitution

GOVERNOR LANDON has repeatedly stated his interpretation of the obligations placed upon governing authorities by the Constitution of the United States.

Foremost in his view is the inviolability of the right of the American people to change the Constitution.

This right can never be delegated to any other authority. It can never be lawfully assumed by any agency of the government.

This does not mean the Constitution is incapable of being adjusted to changing conditions.

Perhaps the most far-seeing provision of the Constitution is the method of revision it has had from the beginning. It has been amended many times. The founders of the ageless charter of American rights wisely included this provision, knowing there would be change and that there would be NEED of change.

BUT it was not their intention that any one man or group of men should ever have the power to make the Constitution suit their purposes.

This power was vested in the people. It has seldom been challenged, and never successfully.

Governor Landon believes that if the American people ever yield their right to ratify or reject any proposed constitutional change, they will become the chattels of those making the change.

N. E. 'SAFE' VIEW OF PRESIDENT

Washington, Oct. 23 (INS)—Publicly expressing confidence that his arduous 48-hour stumping tour of New England was going to put Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island in the Democratic column on November 3, President Roosevelt was back in Washington today for a tentative breathing spell from campaign travel.

The 11 days remaining before election were not going to find the President idle, however.

Tonight he goes on the air again over a nation-wide hook-up. Definite engagements have been made to speak in New York city on October 28 and again on October 31.

There has been talk in New Deal circles that the President would visit Scranton, Pa., again—presumably in connection with his journey to New York city next Wednesday. Likewise there has been speculation he might touch once more in New Jersey the latter part of next week.

On both scores his secretaries insisted no arrangements had been made.

The radio speech tonight will be addressed primarily to 18 "business men's dinners for Roosevelt" in key cities all over the country.

SOVIET ORDERED BUTCHERY IN SPAIN, SAYS PRIEST

the Vatican, revealing that more than 3000 priests, nuns and missionaries have been slain by the Spanish Communists thus far in the war.

Padre Bajas, the Spanish expert at the Vatican who is charged with the task of interviewing clerical refugees from Spain, told Universal Service:

"At least 70 per cent of the priests, nuns and members of religious orders engaged in educational and hospital work were trapped in territory occupied by the Reds, and have been massacred.

"At least 10 per cent of the priests and other clergy in territory occupied by the Reds before the territory was taken by the armies of General Franco, were slain by the Reds.

"Moscow, I have been assured, sent orders to kill as many priests as possible."

ONLY FEW ESCAPE

Padre Bajas refused even to make a rough estimate of the value of church property destroyed by burning and pillaging in the Red-controlled areas of Spain, saying:

"It's astronomical."

The Vatican's Spanish expert declared that the percentage of priests and nuns able to escape the Spanish Reds was surprisingly small.

Among the terrible details of atrocities in Spain, reaching the Vatican, was one relating to a priest captured at Gerona who was stripped of his clothing and bound hand and foot.

Three hot bits of metal were driven under his fingers and toenails. As the priest writhed in agony, his torturers shot him.

MORE REPORTS

Compilation of official reports in the Vatican reveals that the Spanish Reds have slain at least 2411 priests, nuns and missionaries and have destroyed 181 churches and convents.

Official sources, however, stated that on the basis of Father Bajas' estimates, the death toll among clergy in Spain will reach upwards of 5000 as verification of a mass of reports have not yet been completed.

Official figures show that approximately 16,000 priests, 20,000 nuns and 14,000 members of religious orders were engaged in educational, charity and hospital work in Spain at the time of the outbreak of the "Red terror," making a total of approximately 50,000 active workers in the Catholic church.

Priests in areas remaining under Red domination numbered 8072 at the outbreak of the war and there were at least [illegible] nuns in the same regions.

Thus, it was pointed out, approximately 20,000 priests and nuns were at the mercy of the Spanish Reds.

Assuming that half of these managed to escape death, there were at least 10,000 left behind. Father Bajas estimates that 5000 of these were slain.

BIG MONETARY LOSS

Of 3238 churches, convents, monasteries, schools and colleges maintained by the Church in these areas, few escaped either total destruction or serious irreparable damage. The monetary loss at present is incalculable.

Even before the civil war the Vatican almost daily received documentary evidence of Communist atrocities against the clergy in Spain.

From February 16 to June 18 of this year, the Church counted 324 slain and 1517 wounded; 182 attempted assassinations and 106 churches totally destroyed.

Dispatches reaching the Vatican today stated that on September 17 in Ronda near Seville a nun, 70 years old, who was taking two children into refuge was felled by an axe blow which split her head open.

In August, 25 nuns were crucified by Red Madrid women volunteers who used the corpses as targets for rifle practice.

From Almendralejo reports revealed 27 monks were crucified, sprayed with gasoline and burned alive.

In Malaga, 73 priests were crucified, beaten and shot. At Alorha more than 100 nuns were herded into a wooden structure in the convent garden. The doors were nailed and the building set on fire.

Rebels Bomb Soviet Ship In Spain

Gibraltar, Oct. 23 (INS)—Rebel airplanes today bombarded the port of Cartagena while a Soviet ship was unloading "arms and munitions," the Rebel radio at Seville asserted today.

War Fear Spreads As Powers Meet

out of a showdown on their charges.

Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, and Prince Otto Von Bismarck, German charge d'affaires, went into the Locarno room of the foreign office, scene of the meeting, prepared to engage in a verbal struggle with the Soviet spokesman, Ambassador Ivan Maisky.

At the same time, it was stated authoritatively the Russians will continue to operate every possible diplomatic lever to thwart "Nazi and Fascist aid to Spanish insurgents."

"The mad Fascist butchering in Spain goes on with German, Italian and Portuguese guns under the cloak of non-intervention, which the world knows is a sham," a spokesman charged.

However, he indicated plainly that Moscow will continue to use diplomatic means to gain its goal of stopping alleged Fascist arms shipments to Spain.

The Soviet statements put a new light on the international hearing, called to hear a three-power Fascist defense against Soviet charges of neutrality violations.

Italy, Germany and Portugal were ready to enter categorical denials of the allegations and to counter with fresh charges of Russian aid to the Spanish government.

Before today's developments, Russia had indicated strongly she would erase her signature from the non-intervention agreement in protest over the committee's delay in taking "practical measures" to isolate the Spanish war.

These indications arose in an atmosphere already complicated by verbal attacks which split Europe into two camps: Fascist and Communist.

THREE POWERS REPLY

The schism, with its accompanying threat of war on the continent in the event of an open break around the conference table, may be widened with airing of Fascist countercharges, informed sources predicted.

Official replies from Italy and Germany were in the hands of Lord Plymouth, chairman of the non-intervention committee, ready for presentation at the session this afternoon.

The Portuguese answer was on its way to London by government eraslane.

Standing between the diplomatic adversaries in the renewed argument, which rose to its height exactly two weeks ago when the Russian charges were outlined, were two conciliatory powers—Great Britain and France.

BRITAIN FIGHTS FOR PEACE

The British attitude was pictured as an effort to keep the two camps from actual strife, plus an attempt to induce Russia not to bolt the neutrality pact.

"We feel the committee has been successful," one British source declared. "Even though it has always been on the verge of collapse, it helped to reduce the stream of arms to Spain to a trickle."

The French position, to the contrary, was more complicated because of the military alliance between Paris and Moscow and strong pressure in the country for dispatch of assistance to the besieged Madrid Socialists.

20,000,000 CATHOLICS BAND AGAINST REDS

By WALTER FITZMAURICE

Washington, Oct. 23 (US)—Mobilization of America's 20,000,000 Catholics in an international campaign against Communism is one of the prime objects of Cardinal Pacelli's visit to this country, responsible sources disclosed today. The Vatican has already inaugurated such a campaign in Europe.

The cardinal, papal secretary of state, addressing the faculty and student body of the Catholic University, and, without mentioning Communism, emphasized the clergy's mission to moral leadership in nations "where the shadow of perplexing social problems grows darker and more intense."

Again, in a brief, informal address before 400 news correspondents at the National Press Club, the distinguished churchman congratulated the American press on its coverage of the papal utterances, and declared:

"The church and its august head stand for social peace. The daily prayer of the Holy Father is for the peace and prosperity of the world, a prayer in which I invite all of you to join."

Concluding the first visit of a prelate of his rank to the capital the cardinal returned to New York to fly to visit Cardinal Mundelein at Chicago and Archbishop John Gregory Murray at St. Paul.

On the trip, which his secretary said might be extended to San Francisco, it was learned the cardinal will discuss with the hierarchy the formation of a league to combat what the Pope has repeatedly stigmatized as "Marxian godlessness."

The league would be modeled on the legion of decency the Vatican set to cleanse motion pictures.

It would complement the "Pro Deo" societies the Catholic church is promoting throughout Western Europe to combat Communist preachments for a compromise between Catholicism and Marxism in a 'humanitarian united front.'

The Pontifical Oriental Institute in Rome is understood to be conducting an exhaustive study of the Soviet regime, whose findings will be published to afford the clergy and Catholic press ammunition against the "united front" thesis.

Meantime, postponement from October 24 to November 7 of the Cardinal's voyage home opened the possibility he may visit President Roosevelt. Members of his suite said he planned to return to Washington before sailing.

Tech Man's Radio 'War' Dins Spain

Madrid, Oct. 23 (AP)—Ether waves over Spain were a "battleground" today for combat as relentless as on the blood-drenched fields below.

Since the civil conflict began, Socialist and Fascist radio stations have clashed in a propaganda duel of reports, denials, claims and counterclaims—and the invisible but audible strife now has come to closer grips.

Cracked old phonograph records—the more cracked and the older, the better—are the weapons used to "drown out" opposition stations.

As the needle rasps over the broken recording surface, what may have started out as a dulcet lullaby turns suddenly to a screeching caterwaul.

3-MONTH UPROAR

What is believed a world record for continuous broadcasting has been established by the government station at Madrid, the radio Espana, a three kilowatt station with wave-length of 110 meters, which has been transmitting continuously since July 18, the day before the revolt broke out, with only four brief interruptions for repair.

The Madrid station is on the same wave length as the insurgents' largest radio at Seville—and their aerial melees have sent many a listener-in into ear-cracking distemper.

TECH MAN IN CHARGE

A Cuban graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Fernando Canada, technical expert for a Dutch distributing concern, was pressed into service to operate the government station—much to the discomfit of operators of the main insurgent radio stations at Seville, Burgos, Cordoba, Jaca, Valladolid and Teneriffe, who have felt the stings of his ether distortion.

26 Red Ships To Rush Guns To Madrid

London, Oct. 23 (INS)—Twenty-six Soviet ships are ready in Black Sea ports to steam to Spain with cargos of munitions the moment news is flashed to Moscow that Russia has abandoned the non-intervention agreement, said the Daily Express today in a Warsaw dispatch.

VETS PROTEST RED RADIO SPEECHES

Detroit, Oct. 23—Further protests against allowing the spreading, by means of radio broadcasting, of subversive Communistic propaganda designed to bring about a revolution have been made to the Federal communications commission in Washington by patriotic societies in this area.

Adjutant Donald C. Glasscoff, of the American Legion, has protested as follows:

"American Legion in Michigan opposes allowing Communist candidates use of radio stations. Communists now a domestic political party and Federal officers should not aid them in their attempt to overthrow the government."

The Allied Veterans Council of Wayne county has made the following protest:

"Allied Veterans' Council of Wayne County (Mich.) believes radio commission wrong in forcing radio stations to allow Communists right to purchase time to spread their vicious doctrines. This organization, consisting of Veterans of Foreign Wars, United Spanish War Veterans and Disabled World War Veterans, believes the commission is encouraging spreading of Communistic propaganda by this attitude.

(Signed) "Thomas Barrett,
"President,
"Allied Veterans' Council, Inc."

A further protest sent to Washington is as follows:

"Disabled American War Veterans of Detroit vigorously protest your commission granting Communists permission to broadcast doctrines intended to destroy these principles and institutions we fought and suffered to preserve.

(Signed) "Frank Klott,
"Commander,
Wayne County Council,
"D. A. V. W."

Still another protest is as follows:

"Department of Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars protest compelling radio stations to allow Communistic candidates to broadcast. Veterans throughout the United States have always expressed their opinion against Communists.

(Signed) "Harry G. Parsons, Senior Vice-Commander Department of Michigan, Veterans of Foreign Wars, United States."

Cook County A. L. Joins in Protest

Chicago, Oct. 23—Members of the Cook County Council of the American Legion have passed a resolution directed to the Federal Communications Commission which says, in part:

"Be it resolved, that the Cook County Council of the American Legion hereby protest the ruling of the Federal Communications Commission which has ordered all radio stations throughout the United States to accept contracts with the Communists, and respectfully petitions said commission to immediately withdraw the orders to broadcasting stations and forbid the broadcasting of doctrines attacking the government of the United States."

Anti-Red Feeling High in Albany

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 23—The feeling among the patriotic societies of this city that something definite must be done to stamp out Communism and particularly to prevents its further dissemination by the use of radio facilities which are under the control of the federal government is spreading rapidly.

William L. Pfeiffer, commander of Albany County committee of the American Legion, has sent the following objection to the federal communications commission:

"The Albany County committee of the American Legion vigorously protests the use of radio time for voicing to the nation at large the un-American and unconstitutional propaganda of the Communistic party."

Not a Laxative

"The continued use of laxatives and cathartics only aggravates constipation," says a prominent medical authority.

Nujol is an internal lubricant, not a laxative, so cannot gripe. Take Nujol regularly and you will prevent the absorption into the blood of poisons from the constipated bowel.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach, and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol and insist on the genuine.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Digest Poll Accuracy

New York, Oct. 23—Accuracy of the Literary Digest poll in four elections has been remarkable. Outstanding was its prediction—99 per cent correct in the last election.

On October 28, 1932, the Digest, on the basis of 2,783,511 ballots, forecast the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt over Herbert Hoover in a landslide.

The Digest forecast was as follows:

POPULAR VOTE

Roosevelt	23,203,000
Hoover	15,277,000

ELECTORAL VOTE

Roosevelt	474
Hoover	57

The actual vote of the nation, on Nov. 8, 1932, 10 days after the Digest forecast, was as follows:

POPULAR VOTE

Roosevelt	22,522,000
Hoover	15,958,000

ELECTORAL VOTE

Roosevelt	472
Hoover	59

Today, on the basis of 2,158,739 ballots cast thus far in its poll, The Literary Digest indicates the election of Alfred M. Landon over Franklin D. Roosevelt in a landslide. The Digest figures give Landon 32 of the 48 states and a 11 to 8 margin in the popular vote.

Crossley Poll Shows New York Split 50-50

By ARCHIBALD M. CROSSLEY
Director of the Crossley National Poll

New York, Oct. 23—Not only does New York State, with its huge bloc of 47 electoral votes shown by the Crossley Poll to be hanging on the horns of a virtual tie, present an unusually dramatic picture in the Presidential campaign; but a "breakdown" of our latest Crossley poll figures by population-groups today showed the added drama of the largest State in the Nation divided against itself.

At the outset of the campaign, to recall our figures to the reader, New York state showed Roosevelt leading with 52 per cent to Landon's 48.

Outside of New York city, however, Landon has 64 per cent of the majority vote. In the metropolis Landon had 27 per cent, or approximately the Hoover vote.

Then Landon started to gain in the city itself and ran his metropolitan vote up to 30, 32 and at last reports 33 per cent, meanwhile holding his upstate lead at 64 per cent.

This brought the state poll to 50 per cent for Landon, 50 for Roosevelt—with the election but two weeks away.

Now comes the "breakdown" to shed further light on the picture and make it plain that victory in New York state lies in the sectional turnout to the polls on election day.

The "breakdown" is as follows:

In New York city: Landon 33 per cent, Roosevelt 67 per cent.

In cities of 100,000 population and over, not including Greater New York: Landon 64 per cent, Roosevelt 36 per cent. Buffalo, Syracuse and Rochester are in this class.

In cities from 25,000 to 100,000 population, Landon has 52 per cent, Roosevelt 48. While there are many communities of this size strongly favoring Landon, the Albany poll, which favors Roosevelt, depresses the Landon average.

In towns from 5000 to 25,000 population, again a numerous category, Landon has 58 per cent, Roosevelt 42.

In non-farm communities under 5000 population, Landon again has 58 per cent, Roosevelt 42.

And our poll of New York farms shows Landon with 72 per cent, Roosevelt 28.

Mr. Crossley will have another graphic story on the Presidential situation in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

TAVERN GLASS RULE PROBED BY HAYES

Rigid investigation was started today by Chairman William P. Hayes of the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission into complaints that 3000 holders of liquor licenses were being preyed on as a result of a new rule of the body.

Hayes admitted he had received two dozen complaints that license holders had been threatened with loss of their licenses in 1937 unless they purchased $225 sterilization machines to comply with the ruling.

The machines are used in sterilizing glasses. The complaint parade started to pour in on the commission soon after issuance of its new order that all glasses used in serving liquor and beer must be sterilized.

Hayes, denying the commission had approved any special device of this nature, or intended to do so, also volunteered the information that complaints had been made that two of his investigators had recommended these $225 machines.

"I was informed by a reputable person in Springfield," Hayes said, "that two of the commission's investigators there had recommended to license holders that they purchase a certain device.

"I have never had a previous complaint against them.

"It may well be these investigators merely volunteered information in reply to inquiries by license holders. No mention of investigators is made in any other complaints.

"If complaints against the two are proved, immediate action will be taken. Such activity would break down enforcement. My investigators will be specifically instructed along those lines at once."

Hayes also hinted that there might be a modification in the ruling regarding the sterilization of glasses.

Senator Hastings Finds:

3 Jewish Views On Palestine

This is the first article of a series by U. S. Senator Daniel P. Hastings of Delaware, the third member of the Hearst Unofficial Senatorial Commission to report on the crisis in Palestine.

Senator Hastings is a distinguished jurist. While in Palestine he made a special study of the Jewish purchase of land from Arabs, and of the progress of Jewish agriculture.

By DANIEL P. HASTINGS
U. S. Senator from Delaware

(Copyright, 1936, American Newspapers, Inc.)

If one is to get an accurate picture of the present troubles in Palestine, it is necessary to know something of the background of the recent political control of the country. For something like 400 years prior to the World War Palestine was in the hands of the Turks.

As early as 1891 that heroic Jewish figure, Theodor Herzl, became the leader of the idea of a Jewish state. Herzl insisted that the Jews are a distinct nation, whose problems can be solved only by restoring them to a normal national life in a land of their own.

By 1902 he had interested the British government in his plans. He died early in life, but not until he had given the impetus to the Zionist movement and organization throughout the world.

There appear to be three distinct views today among Jews with respect to Palestine. One view is that Palestine must ultimately become a nation of Jews, controlled by the Jews. The second is that Palestine must be looked upon merely as a spiritual center for Jewry.

Place of Refuge

Then there is a third view the view of the present Jewish agency for Palestine, which is somewhere between these two, namely, that Palestine must offer to the Jews of the world a place of refuge, and that they must be permitted to immigrate as rapidly as the economic condition of Palestine may warrant; and the fact that Jews may ultimately become the majority in Palestine must not be taken into consideration.

The official Zionist leaders who adhere to the third view do not demand that Palestine be now considered as a Jewish state, and express the willingness to assure the Arabs that regardless of their numbers they will never demand anything politically more than parity.

Those Zionists who insist that Palestine shall become a Jewish state call attention to the statement made by President Wilson, in responding to a memorandum formulating the Jewish claim to Palestine, namely:

"I am persuaded that the allied nations, with the fullest concurrence of our government and our people, are agreed that in Palestine shall be laid the foundation of a Jewish commonwealth."

Stress is also laid in this connection upon a statement by Secretary of State Hughes, in a communication addressed to Lord Balfour on January 22, 1922, to wit: "Even in case a Jewish state should survive" (in Palestine).

This reference to a Jewish state was made in the course of the negotiations for the British-American convention in which the United States gave its consent to the British trusteeship over Palestine.

The Balfour declaration was made on November 9, 1917. The American Jewish Congress meeting in Philadelphia on December 19, 1918, in approving the Balfour document, added the very significant words, "Jewish Commonwealth."

When Dr. Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, was asked at the peace conference in Paris, in 1919, by Mr. Lansing, the American representative, what he meant by the Jewish national home, he replied that "there should ultimately be such conditions that Palestine should be just as Jewish as America is American and England English."

On December 2, 1917, Lord Cecil, a member of the British Cabinet, said:

"Our wish is that Arabian countries shall be for the Arabs, Armenia for the Armenians, and Judea for the Jews."

A study of the history of the Balfour declaration shows, in my opinion, quite conclusively that the Jews of the world were justified in believing that the issuance of the Balfour declaration intended to assure them a country they could control and call their own.

Mandate Indefinite

I think also that the Jews of the world were justified in believing that Palestine meant the country on both sides of the Jordan, and not the present western area from which trans-Jordan has been severed and set up as a separate Arab kingdom under the aegis of the British high commissioner in Jerusalem.

When the World War was over and the time came to translate a general declaration into a specific contract, we find a remarkable document known as the mandate for Palestine which the Jews were, of course, compelled to accept.

There is, in my judgment, but one important definite promise in the mandate, in which the Jews are interested, and that is the promise to place the country under such political, administrative and economic conditions as will secure the establishment of the Jewish national home in Palestine.

There is a technical way out for the British government of every other promise in it. You may offer strong arguments against the British and Arab interpretations of the mandate, but it is difficult to put your finger on anything definite. There is nothing in the mandate itself to justify the claim that the Jews have a right to make Palestine into a Jewish state.

One of the great troubles of the situation in Palestine today, as I see it, is that the Jews were led to believe for five years at least, from 1917, when the Balfour declaration was made, to 1922, when the mandate was approved, that ultimately Palestine was to become a political unit, a nation belonging to the Jewish race.

15 FLEE FIRE; 7 RESCUED

Fifteen persons were driven from their homes and seven others, overcome by smoke, were rescued by police as fire broke out in a five-story apartment building in Commercial street, North End, today.

The blaze was discovered by a passerby, who noticed smoke issuing from a window and sounded an alarm.

Police found the flames had apparently started in the second floor.

Those rescued included Rocco Masculllo, 51; his wife, Angelina, 52; their four children, Philomena, 18; Alfred, 17; Antonio, 16, and Joseph, 15, and Mascuillo's brother, Amedo, 49.

WOMEN FORCE FIGHT ON RACKET

Special to the Boston American

Olympia, Wash., Oct. 23—After twice having been rebuffed by Governor Martin, a committee of Spokane women finally forced the Governor to meet them and receive their petition urging him to stamp out racketeering in Seattle and other parts of the state.

Their petition demanded action against labor racketeering and protested the address given by Mayor John F. Dore of Seattle on the University of Washington campus last week when he lauded the Industrial Workers of the World, and gave tacit approval of I. W. W. methods of violence.

After the women read their petition to Governor Martin, he dictated a formal statement declaring he would co-operate with the women of Spokane toward elimination of racketeering.

Regarding Mayor Dore's address at the university, the governor said the meeting was arranged by the students and "no one could foretell just what Dore was going to say. This will not occur again."

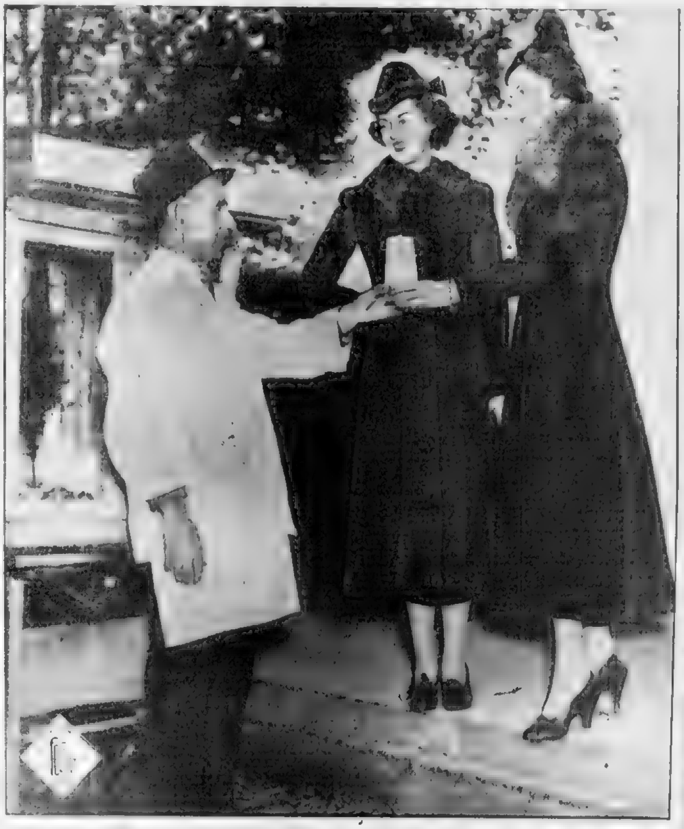
Exciting Winter Coats Tagged at Congress



[illegible] FORGET the dignity of their smooth broad- [illegible] and rich, tight-curled Persian [illegible] olive-skinned man who stands [illegible] fall leaves outside the main gate [illegible] So you see, in an informal moment, [illegible] that were hailed at the Fashion Congress. The silhouettes are new, the fabrics are luxurious, and the whole is exciting, for it says that this will be the [illegible] the town's had for quite a while!

[illegible] McNeil models a princesse coat of [illegible] with many, many gores. The [illegible] tight, and Persian nobbins act [illegible] to the hem and pop up again on the ends of the slender sleeves. The high hat is edged with Persian. Lots of style and flattery for around [illegible] dollars!

Right, Miss Mary Mor[illegible] definitely for the chic sophisticate. A huge, pointed collar of silver fox, and utterly restrained lines [illegible] and then, whoosh! The immense [illegible] back," which tells the story! [illegible] on the edge. Coat is something [illegible]

HIPS, THIGHS, ARE NEVER IMMUNE TO EXERCISE

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Copyright, 1936, King Features [illegible]

HIPS ARE immune to diet. Even though you keep your calories on the svelte side of buxom, hips hover on the wrong side of 38! But hips are NOT immune to exercise.

We thought at first that the new fashions would hide the hips as they did in the good old days. But as it turns out, the exacting styles reveal not only WHAT you wear but WHERE!

When hips are padded with adipose tissue the peplums, [illegible] and tunics cast a [illegible] of [illegible] on the silhouette. If you have any bulges, the styles play them up.

To streamline the hips put exercise beyond your calorie count. The following tri-purpose exercise, if performed correctly, will sweep down the hips, smooth out thigh bulges and flatten the tummy. What more could you ask of one exercise?

Position: Lying flat on back, arms outstretched in line with [illegible] extended [illegible]

Movement: Raise right leg straight up [illegible] to form a [illegible] with the body. Now [illegible] the body [illegible] of [illegible] hand. You won't [illegible] make it the first [illegible] but keep trying. [illegible] Alternating, [illegible] exercise six times [illegible]

Always be exact in every [illegible] of an exercise. [illegible]ing the leg to right angles brings the muscles of the abdomen into the action. The other leg is held straight out on the floor throughout the entire exercise. Do not bring the fingers down to meet the toes. Keep the arms in line with shoulders. Given a chance this exercise works wonders with your figure.

That obtruding bulge on the side of each hip [illegible] can be [illegible]

Nervous Strain

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

NERVOUSNESS IS A common affliction of many young children. Unfortunately, it is often accepted as a "natural" event of childhood.

[illegible] many persons [illegible] that certain "habit [illegible]" such as blinking and [illegible] the eyes and twitching of the face, shoulders or [illegible] part of the body, [illegible] matters and that [illegible] will outgrow them.

[illegible]

This is a condition which rather frequently affects children between the ages of [illegible] and fifteen years. As a rule it is more often encountered in girls than in boys.

Though the actual cause is not known, it is believed to be due to an infection similar to if not identical with, the infection causing acute rheumatic fever. [illegible] of the disease is [illegible]. Any child who suffers from either a mild or severe form of the disease should be taken from school.

SMITH Warns BANKERS

AGAINST GOV'T INTERFERENCE

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 23 (INS) — Describing government competition with private banking organizations as a "serious matter," Tom K. Smith, St. Louis, president of the American Bankers Association, today warned bankers they "must be aggressive in seeing to it that business which we can and should handle does not go to a federal agency."

[illegible]

It pointed out, however, that "Bureaucracy has a well known tendency to perpetuate itself."

"It is essential the banks ascertain ... just what functions now performed by the government they can take over," Smith said. "I am not prepared to say that the private credit machinery of the country is now able to cope with all of the agricultural financing or the other work which has been handled by various government organizations. But I think you will all agree that we must soon determine just what portion of this work, if not all of it, can be handled by chartered banks."

2 Billion People Envy You!

The average man... and his family... gets more from the American plan of living than the average person anywhere!

TWO BILLION people are a lot of people [illegible] has ever [illegible] you ... the way you [illegible] the things you have [illegible]

This envy is really admiration too. Admiration of the way you have [illegible] forward under our American plan of living. To shorter working hours [illegible] and home comforts and [illegible] a happier life.

[illegible]

Back to Yesterday

[illegible]

How were things then? Look ...

Men worked ten to twelve hours a day ... about 72 hours a week. The factory—or shop—was hot in summer, cold in winter... poorly ventilated always. Tools were crude. And labor hard.

Little progress had been made in aids for good housekeeping. Woman's work was never done. She worked hard from early dawn until late at night.

Sure ... the "good old days." You can have them!

Has the Picture Changed?

Today many ride to work in their own cars...or on a fast bus, trolley or train. They work about forty-eight hours a week in a modern plant, or office.

Wages are up. Eighty-five per cent of all our national income goes to those who work for a living. Cars, radios ... a thousand comforts and luxuries are in most families. Amusements are plentiful and there is time to enjoy them. A housewife can have time to better plan her children's education ... to play bridge, visit a beauty parlor, read—and enjoy dozens of other pleasures—because she has [illegible] working at home for her. Families have fresh vegetables all year round. We don't have to live in California or Florida to have oranges [illegible]. Children go to good schools ... and there's a doctor and dentist nearby.

Americans have more suits of clothes, shoes and shirts than their foreign brothers. Just as our wives and sweethearts have more dresses, silk stockings, hats. With us many luxuries—auto, telephone, electric lights—have become necessities. We scarcely think of them as luxuries.

And you have liberty under the Constitution. You give up no personal liberty, no human right to obtain more of life's good things, and greater leisure in which to enjoy them.

More for More People

What brought this about? Simply an American plan of living. A sound, proved plan which depends on producing more for more people.

We've been pretty good at that sort of thing here in America. Better than any other nation. In fact that's why we have more.

You ... and every one of your friends ... all of you stockholders in the United States, Inc., want this progress to continue—for your sake—for the benefit of generations to come. There's no reason why it can't.

As this nation grows you grow. As the American plan of living grows, you grow. Keep [illegible] with it ... support it ... believe in it [illegible] you are it!

Measure our American Standard of Living

BY THESE YARDSTICKS:

I. With only 7% of the world's population, and but 6% of the world's acreage, the United States has
  - More than half the world's foodstuffs.
  - Half the world's communication facilities;
  - Nearly half the world's railway and electric energy.

We consume:
  - Half the world's coffee;
  - Half the world's tin;
  - Three-fourths the world's silk;
  - One-third the world's coal;
  - Two-thirds the world's crude oil.

In comparison with Europe, we have:
  - Nearly three times as many radios per person
  - Five times as many telephones,
  - Nearly a dozen times as many automobiles;
  - Four times as many miles of railroads.

II. The American home is more comfortable and more sanitary. For example:
  - 70% of homes in the U.S. have electricity.
    (Over 11 kilowatt hours can be bought for an hour's wage in the U.S., as against 5.92 kilowatt hours in the European country nearest approaching us in that respect.)
  - 10,000,000 vacuum cleaners are in use;
  - 10,500,000 washing machines are in use;
  - 21,000,000 electric irons are in use.

III. Among the many social benefits in our standard of living are:

Health facilities:
  - Hospital beds increased 100% from 1909 to 1930.
  - Clinical laboratories in hospitals increased 45%, [illegible].
  - X-ray apparatus increased 64%, 1922-30.
  - Death rate dropped about 50%, 1900-1933 ([illegible] per 1000 to [illegible] per 1000).

Education:
  - 26,000,000 are enrolled in American schools.
  - College and normal school enrollment increased from 237,000 in 1900 to 1,144,703 in 1932.
  - AMERICA SPENDS MORE FOR EDUCATION THAN ALL THE OTHER COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD COMBINED.

Recreation:
  - Americans spend $10,000,000,000 a year for recreational purposes.

Despite the slaughter of the favorites Wilson came up with 42 winners during the 21 racing days. In addition to this splendid average of two winners a day, Dave also placed 224 horses in the money.

Wilson had four more winners than his nearest competitor in the Boston field. The third man had 36 winners while the fourth wound up with 33.

Once again Wilson shows the way. He expects to do even better at the final meeting of the New England racing season.

There are many secrets to boxing and I could spend some time telling just how to box, but in these articles I am going to try and give amateur boxers tips on fighting that you seldom see in an amateur.

For [illegible] lected what I believe [illegible] the most important [illegible] fighter, amateur or pro[illegible] should know.

That is barraging in close with both hands.

Amateur fighters [illegible] advantage when [illegible] close. Most [illegible] tent to hold.

However, if you keep punching with both hands you are not only [illegible] are not getting as tired as you would if you were [illegible]

An excellent example of this was seen at the first All-America amateur tournament in the bout between [illegible] Chludinski and Rey Kelley. Chludinski, who [illegible] ger, lost because he [illegible] advantage of his size, especially when in close.

If he kept punching away he would have made Kelley do the holding and it would have been Kelley that would get tired and Chludinski would have not had much trouble in beating him. Instead Chludinski forgot to fight when in close.

Barraging is simple. All [illegible] do is keep your [illegible] keep [illegible] body. If this works [illegible] your hands. [illegible] up and then down across the chin, like a right hand hook.

Ouellette as H. C. Fullback

Gets Chance In Skibo Game

By WALTER KILEY

Worcester, Oct. 23—Henry Ouellette, little pint o' peanuts from Lawrence, will get his big chance to flash for the benefit of his local townsfolk when he plays fullback for Holy Cross against Carnegie Tech tomorrow.

Hank won't start. Bill Osmanski, the Providence powerhouse, will be back in there to launch hostilities.

But the Frenchman will relieve his teammate. And when he does the Purple legions can expect something pretty shifty and snakey in the way of a ball carrier.

To most it will come as a surprise to find Ouellette listed as a fullback. He has been playing halfback.

Expediency is the answer.

Dr. Eddie Anderson's fullbacks have been subject to one mishap after another. Joe Yablonski, militia No. 1 fullback, is still an unknown possibility. His injury, received against Dartmouth, isn't entirely healed. Sophomore Frank Teague was laid low against Manhattan. Paul Massey was shifted to left halfback, a position he's filling very adequately. And Ugo Tesainari is meeting with trouble clearing up a two weeks' old injury.

Therefore, Ouellette at fullback.

Lacks Height

Although there is another logical reason, Hank's lack of stature. He stands no more than 5 feet 4 inches at the very most, poor height in defending against passes. But at fullback he'll be up close to the line where his inches won't hinder him as much as in the deep defensive position.

If that fine Purple frontier opens up holes for him, then this Ouellette may well prove to be another one of those opportunists who can break up the Tech ball game any minute.

Osmanski, Ouellette and Hilary Renz give promise of being three of the all-time New England backfield greats before they graduate three years hence.

Right this moment Dr. Anderson wouldn't swap Osmanski for a Smuckler. The kid's got everything it takes for greatness both offensively and defensively, best of all an innate ability to do the right thing at the right time.

Renz will unfortunately miss tomorrow's battle. He hurt his foot against the Jaspers. It's coming along nicely, though, and the New Yorker will be ready and waiting for Temple.

Carnegie Tech comes to Worcester primed to break the two-year undefeated record of the Crusaders.

They have nothing to lose by shooting the works and everything to gain. Already defeated by Notre Dame and Michigan State, but only after grim struggles, they hope to repay the Purple in kind for the 7-0 setback of a year ago.

Dave Colwell Lost To Yale Team

New Haven, Oct. 23—Yale today had lost David Colwell of Loveland, Col., who with symptoms of appendicitis was rushed to the New Haven Hospital where an operation was performed.

Colwell last year alternated between the line and the backfield. His punting was brilliant but erratic.

Continuing the daily diet of light practice which Head Coach Ducky Pond has ordered since the exacting Navy game last Saturday, the Yale eleven was kept on the defensive for an hour while Coach Levering's jayvees presented Rutgers plays.

Friars Await B. C. Visit

PROVIDENCE Captain Leo Bouzan, a Newton Center boy, would like nothing better than to lead his mates to an upset victory over the heavily favored Boston College eleven at the Heights Saturday. Bouzan is a husky 210-pound tackle.

WATCH OUT EAGLES—The B. C. defense will have to be constantly on the alert for Leo Polski, Friars' great halfback, who does the lion share of the running and passing. If the Dobie gang stop Polski they stop Providence.

B. C. Victory Friars' Aim

Tackle Pair Primed for Dobies

Although beset by injuries to their backfield, Providence College, which gave Holy Cross a terrific battle, is primed to duplicate against B. C. at University Heights tomorrow with an upset win as their season's objective.

Holy Cross won that game by a 21-to-6 score but only after the potent Crusaders had had 60 minutes of sizzling action.

Strategically, most of the Friar strength is at the tackles, flanked by a really great pair of ends, which augurs plenty of difficulty for Gil Dobie's off tackle power smashes, the backbone of B. C.'s offense.

Leo Bouzan, 212-pound, six foot one, senior from Sacred Heart high in Newton, at right tackle; Leo Davin, 205-pound, six foot four, senior from New Haven, and Bill Lawler, 210-pound, six foot two, senior from Springfield as a reserve gives the Friars as powerful a tackle squad as could be desired.

Al Hagstrom, 183, and Paul Ryan, 191, are a great pair of ends according to B. C.'s scout, Coach Harry Downes, who says both are fine pass receivers and defensive ends as well.

Jim Boboras, 188-pound, six footer, and Ben Polak, another six foot, 185 pounder, are the starting guards. They will flank, Normie Eichner, 192, six foot two inch center from Torrington, Connecticut.

Bill Moge, 185 pound, triple threat fullback is the outstanding backfield ace of the Friars although Leo Ploski, their best ball carrying flash is an dangerous a back as any club would care to meet.

To repel such a formidable array Coach Gil Dobie of the Eagles has decided to start a new backfield and open up with an offense which has been under wraps for one reason or another all season.

Tom Guinea will be at right half in place of the injured Al Tortolini.

Al Horsfal at fullback and Walter Bryan at quarter in place of the injured Tony DiNatale complete the current B. C. first team backfield. The line remains the same as started against New Hampshire.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Freddie Camuso Meets Palucci

Freddie Camuso, former amateur star of Fall River, will meet the stiffest opposition that he has been called upon to face since he deserted the amateur ranks, when he meets "tough" Jerry Palucci of Providence, R. I. tonight at the Providence Auditorium.

Camuso defeated Eddie Hannon, also of Providence in the same ring several weeks ago and hopes to add Palucci to his list of victims.

GILDEA Team Is CHOICE

MALDEN MEETS N. H. TEAM

Saturday's schoolboy football spotlight will be turned to the Fulton street grounds where the undefeated Everett high eleven meets a fighting, courageous Medford high team.

Coach Denny Gildea's team is out to annex the state title this season and are well on the way to accomplishing this aim. Led by Captain Al Ramboli, one of the outstanding backs in this section, they should be favorites.

But Eddie Brooks' boys are no set-ups despite the loss of their best back and captain, Les Bennett. Les was injured early in the season and has become the forgotten man in Medford's football fights.

Acting Captain Jim Dwyer is the big power on the offense, tossing spot passes to that rangey end, Ed Dugger to give the oposition plenty of headaches.

Malden Plays

Over at the Pearl street stadium, Malden high will play host to Hubie McDonough's Manchester Central team. The invaders have failed to come up to their par of other years but will provide a lot of fight for McGuirk's downhearted eleven.

Waltham high will be facing a hard Lynn English team without the services of its star back, Johnny Krol. Johnny, although ready to play, will be kept on the sidelines to give that injured ankle an extra rest.

Bill Broderick's Salem Witches will provide the opposition for an undefeated Leominster team. The visitors have one of the classiest backfields in the state in Fournier, Blodgett and LaPierce.

Watertown and Arlington hook up in a Mystic League game at Arlington. The Oliverio brothers should hand Arlington the edge in a hard fought game.

Brockton high's fast stepping eleven should take the invading New Bedford team into camp but there is little possibility that this team will be as easy as the Vocational school.

Another game that will attract a lot of attention is the Beverly-Haverhill tilt. Haverhill will find Beverly a scrappy outfit but should be able to thrash the smaller school.

"Reggie Sawyer's Maynard High team is the eleven to beat in order to win the Middlesex League championship," says Coach Tom Newell of Belmont High. Newell's boys edged Maynard by a freak score but despite this win he thinks that this team will be in the running throughout the season.

Winchester is at the top of the league with fine prospects of repeating for first place. Their record, in league competition, stands at three wins, no losses and have not yet been scored on.

Lefty Johnson is proving one of the best backs in the league, doing the passing and kicking for the Winchester team. He does both of the duties in southpaw fashion.

Meet Wesleyan

The Wesleyan barriers visit Tufts Oval this afternoon to take on the Jumbo cross-country team. Captain Steve Starr, Berecz, Quinlan, Lape, Dusette, Slater and Perry are expected to be in the first group for the Jumbos.

Mat Results

Hartford—Stan Pinto, 211, Manchester, N. H., took two straight falls from Ivan Managoff, 230, Russia.

Somerville—Nick Sweetos, Greece, pinned Jack Reynolds, New York, in two out of three falls.

San Francisco—Cowboy Dude Chick, 190, Wyoming, defeated Bob Montgomery, 188, New Orleans.

Huskies Play

The Northeastern freshmen meet the Tufts yearlings this afternoon at the Tufts freshman field for their third game this season. The Jumbos have won over Huntington, but lost to Quincy High and Dean Academy.

Woman Bowler Has Rare Score

Florence "Bobby" Anderson, one of Greater Boston's women's bowling aces, amazed devotees of the sport by piling up a remarkable three-string handicap score of 410 in an exhibition at the South Station alleys.

In the 30 boxes rolled she connected for 14 spares and one strike, while the average per string was 136 2-3. The opening string was 125, the second of 121, and the final found 151 pins swept off the alley plates.

ANN Interviews HOWARD

ACTOR QUERIED VIA WNAC

By N. F. T.

this evening [WNAC] brings a highly interesting and informative radio impression of a great actor, responding to alert questioning as to the ramifications of a stage and screen career—with Leslie Howard as the famous thespian and Ann Marsters as the noted girl interrogator.

Scheduled as it is for listeners between 6:45 and 7 o'clock.

"N. F. T."

In the light of a remarkable week of enthusiastic acceptance of "Hamlet" at the Boston Opera House, it is in order and to be expected that the air audience of New England should hear from Leslie Howard through the NBC network chain station here. There are colorful incidents connected with the rise of the English actor. Ann Marsters will apply the questioning technique that will provide Mr. Howard an opportunity to make known the inside story of his rise to stardom and something of his aspirations for the future.

Who should spank Junior, mother or father? And how can a wife tell when her husband is lying?

These are two of the questions Sedley Brown and Allie Lowe Miles will take up with representative citizens at the weekly meeting of the "Husbands and Wives" program this evening at 9:30.

Judging from the audience mail already received on these questions there will be plenty of argument. Most women apparently think Papa should do all the spanking, although a number of wives think both parents should share this unpleasant responsibility equally.

Barbara Stanwyck and Preston Foster will be Louella Parsons' and Dick Powell's guest stars on the "Hollywood Hotel" program for the second time in recent months when tonight (WEEI) they are to be heard from 9:00 to 10:00 p. m., in preview scenes from their forthcoming picture, "The Plough and the Stars." The two presented highlights from "Annie Oakley" several months ago.

COLLEEN'S DOLL HOUSE

At Jordan's, Starting Monday

It sounds like a childish idea, but when you see it, it looks like magic.

The reference is to Colleen Moore's half-million dollar doll house, which the screen star was setting up today at Jordan Marsh's. It will be exhibited there for two weeks, beginning next Monday, for the benefit of Boston's crippled, ill, and underprivileged children.

Representing a lifetime of a romantic little Irish girl's fairy tale dreams and nine years of hard and costly labor by the world's greatest craftsmen, the doll house is more a palace for leprechauns than a mere abode for dolls. In fact, there are no dolls in it.

Instead, there are sweeps of bejewelled floors and magnificent carved stairways, furniture made of silver and gold, and tiny china, plate, glassware.

Since last year, when the doll house was in Boston for two weeks and incidentally made nearly [illegible] for children's charities here—collectors from all over the world have sent Miss Moore tiny, immensely valuable additions to her collection of miniature wonders.

Fitting exactly the doll house scale of an inch to the foot—the fairy palace is 14 feet high, nine feet wide, and eight feet long, perching on the craggy crest of a miniature cliff—the new features include diamond, emerald, and platinum chairs in the princess' bedrooms, a real 12th century painting, a set of Royal Cauldron china with egg cups just big enough to hold the head of a match, a quarter inch pair of Cinderella glass slippers, the chairs of the three bears, each perched on the head of a pin, and a three-tube radio three inches high that really works.

The Record of Lost Liberty

THE flagrant undermining of American liberties by the Roosevelt Administration was condemned by Governor Landon in his Los Angeles speech, WITH SPECIFIC REFERENCES TO THE NEW DEAL RECORD.

He was speaking, not to a Pacific Coast audience alone, but to the whole nation.

Liberty has not been restrained by the New Deal in any one section, but in every part of the country.

Governor Landon identified the New Deal attempt to plan American life according to its own designs as a part of the destructive movement sweeping the world. Of this movement he said:

> "It has destroyed freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion. It has robbed the people of those great guaranties of personal liberty and human rights that we enjoy under the American system."

That American citizens have been robbed of precious rights by the New Deal was conclusively established by Mr. Landon.

He referred to the "drum-head" investigations sanctioned by the Roosevelt Administration in an obvious effort to silence and embarrass its critics.

He told of the unlawful seizure of great masses of private correspondence and telegrams.

He spoke of the intimidation of business men, of workers and of farmers by the application of codes subsequently outlawed by the courts.

> "In the last three and one-half years," said Mr. Landon, "this Administration has led us far from the spirit of our Constitution. It has led us far from the principles of the American form of government. That this has been deliberate there can be no doubt."

These successive assaults upon American liberty have been attempted by the use of powers never intended for such a purpose.

The Roosevelt Administration was specifically granted extraordinary powers in a national emergency. They were essentially temporary. Mr. Roosevelt described them as temporary in asking for them, and Congress purposely set expiration dates for most of them.

> "But when the crisis was over," Governor Landon reminds America, "the Administration refused to give up its extraordinary powers. INSTEAD, IT ASKED FOR MORE. It seemed obsessed with the idea it had a mandate to direct and control American business, American agriculture and American life."

GOVERNOR LANDON has repeatedly pledged himself as President to immediately recommend to Congress the repeal of all extraordinary authority given the President during the emergency.

HE WILL KEEP THAT PLEDGE, as his first act to restore the freedom of American citizens under their own Government.

A Dean's Brave Words

IT IS tremendously encouraging to the cause of sound and patriotic Americanism in our colleges to read what Dr. William F. Russell, dean of Teachers' College at Columbia University, has to say on the question of those forces which under various guises and by various ruses are boring under the fabric of our free institutions.

In an article entitled "The Plight of the Liberal" in the Independent Journal, published at the University, Dean Russell says:

"It is only the picketers, the strikers, the social problems club, the League Against War and Fascism, New America, the Communist cells—only these believe in the failure of education and hence resort to force.

"They deserve no place in a university.

"The rest of us are trying to solve these problems by education.

"It is unfortunate that a small group, directed and financed from the outside, is able to capture those over-influenced by foreign example and failing either in their love for or understanding of American ideals!

"TO PREPARE THE PEOPLE—THAT IS THE COMMUNISTIC TECHNIQUE. AND WHAT IS THE FORM OF EDUCATION? ENCOURAGE HATRED, JEALOUSY, ENVY, STIMULATE PICKETING, STRIKING AND PUBLIC DISORDER.

"Underneath it all lies one mind and one purpose. It is by this method that Communism hopes to rear its ugly head.

"It is preparation for seizing power."

THIS is the heartening and vigorous way in which the heads of all our teachers' colleges in America should write, speak and TEACH.

Dean Russell is thoroughly awake to the "outside" enemies who lie in wait to seize our educational institutions in the interests of an alien economic creed—COMMUNISM—that would destroy every vestige of "academic freedom."

Dean Russell's words should be read in every college and school in America.

More Policewomen Needed

ARTHUR T. LYMAN, able career man directing the State Department of Correction, focuses public attention on a glaring weakness in the front line of Massachusetts' $200,000,000-a-year war on crime. In all the State there are only 24 policewomen.

The policewoman is essentially concerned with juvenile delinquency, with its prevention as well as its correction. Today's juvenile delinquent, if not taken in hand, is tomorrow's hardened criminal. And conditions bearing upon juvenile delinquency in this State, Commissioner Lyman finds, are at their worst in many years.

Urgently needed, according to the Commissioner, is a State force of at least ten times the present number of policewomen. The source of the proposal admits of no questioning of its sincerity; its soundness will be obvious to every parent.

Provisions for putting it into effect should be incorporated in a bill for the Legislature's consideration.

What Every Child Knows

GOVERNOR LANDON'S cryptic comment on Mr. Roosevelt's apparent misconception of the bonus debt is broad enough to cover all the fallacies of New Deal financing.

President Roosevelt said at Pittsburgh, with reference to the bonus:

"That payment is now out of the way and is no longer a future obligation of the Government."

Every school child knows this is not the truth.

As Governor Landon points out, the payments made to the veterans were FINANCED ALMOST ENTIRELY BY BORROWING.

New York Day by Day -:- -:- -:- By O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

New York, Oct. 23—Thoughts while strolling: Not all newspapermen had to come to New York to be famous. Ed Howe, for instance. Ace of the style broadcasters: Carmel Snow. Inseparables: Osgood Perkins and trench coat. Lo, another pompadourist: Hugh Baillie, the U. P. chief. Fifi Dorsay is the sort of French type one always expects to see in the Paris music halls but never does. Not many in the theater accomplish so much and say so little as Brock Pemberton. The song-writers rash of "sweetie-pie" revives an old Civil War endearment.

No boulevardier ever gave New York the go-by like Sailing Baruch. Most continental looking of the first nighters: Jules Bache. The elk-hound — Rex Cole's favorite pooch—is gaining favor with dog fanciers. The town lost a real social rendezvous when snide politics closed the Casino in the Park.

Orchestra leaders come and go but Armand Vecsey is still fiddling at the Ritz. John McClain—social cherub with the Long Island set and longshoreman with ship news reporters. Robert Taylor reaches the peak of that Rudy Vallee rage of five years ago. And Rudy is still there, heigh, ho!

What's become of Francine Larrimore? A frisky Scottie puppy having a time for himself in a 47th street window blocks traffic. Overheard: "As much chance as I have to waltz with Ginger Rogers." Won't be long until we know who's who at the White House.

Among enthusiastic ringsiders at baseball, hockey, football and prize fights are those smartly habited fellows who run the flashy haberdashery shops in and around Broadway.

In most instances they are native New Yorkers—alerts who have saved up in clerkships and started on their own. They are celebrity worshippers and nothing pleases them more than an autographed picture for their window. Such as: "To Milt from your pal—Jack Dempsey."

They are hefty spenders in the cafes—plump, diamond ring wearers with hair embrosse—and seem to favor those dark timbered chop houses to which they squire ravishing blondes who stress the artifices of cosmetics and call them "Daddy."

New York is the most "bath-conscious city" anywhere. A morning and evening tub is a rite with thousands. And this zeal is likely responsible for the "Pour Le Bain" shops on the upper East Side—satiny salons that deal solely with bath-room knickknacks. Soap with initialed monograms in all colors. Bath salts ranging from $1 to $25 a bottle. Rubberized head rests for those who like to read in the tub. Terra cotta robes that match the towels, etc., etc.

Sign of adaptability in the Positions Wanted ads: "Valet five years at liberty is now willing to valet, wait on table, drive the car, air the dog and run errands."

When I was a copy serf on the vanquished Evening Mail a shawled Apple Mary visited the editorial room each noon with a spacious basket of apples, oranges, bananas, chocolate bars, candy, cigarettes and chewing gum. The Park Row saga was she owned a row of all-alike apartment houses in New Jersey. Anyway fluctional, a kindly soul, indulgent with credits and interested in our affairs.

Recently I recalled her in this column and today a letter from Apple Mary's only granddaughter, who writes a boarding school hand, and says she was not only educated at Apple Mary's expense but was left $14,000 by her.

She added: "Grandma worked to the last, coming home in a snow storm in which she caught a cold that ended in pneumonia." Probably many self-sacrificing Apple Marys.

On the Evening Mail copy desk was an odd semi-circle of newspaper nonentities. The atrabilious Simon Legree in the slot had a fierce black Van Dyke and was in constant jitters. He was sub rosa to the staff "Black Mike."

I never pass that Fulton street corner without a shudder. So depressing I cannot help but ring down the column curtain on a down beat. The News Room Blues!

"Dear Govt." -:- By Winston Norman

Mr. Harry Hopkins,
Boss of WPA,

Dear Mr. Hopkins:

I am a WPA worker; will I get paid extra wages to vote for Mr. Roosevelt on Nov. 3rd? Election Day is a holiday, like you know Mr. Hopkins, so us WPA folks ought to get extra money for our vote, over & above what we allready been paid for it.

Looking at it from where I set on my WPA project, it looks to me like voteing for Mr. Roosevelt comes under your Boondoogle progrum. Everybody on my Projeck was rejistered 100% Democrat, our Foreman took care of that, and we done it on Govt time.

So what I think, Mr. Hopkins, the Govt ought to put up some signs on the ballot box that says, THIS IS A WPA PROJECK, VOTE ROOSEVELT, and we could draw down wages when we voted, just like we did when we rejistered.

As a matter of fack, our voteing will look just like any other day's work on my projeck. Our Foreman is going to set his Alarm Clock, & make sure that we all wake up on Nov. 3rd. If the clock goes off, we will turn out a 100 per cent and perduce 25 solid votes for Mr. Roosevelt, unless some of the boys votes twice.

Your friend,
W. NORMAN.

Women in America

The Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

Indian summer reflections, with an eye on the current news. The presidential race comes up to the wire, the contestants galloping hard this side of the eighth pole. I wonder how much the politicians are taking women into consideration. I don't mean just the sex of voting age as such, but women with a stake in the great American game. And do we realize how great that stake is?

Edwin C. Hill

This writer, for one, was well nigh startled when he read recently of where American women stand as investors in the future of the United States. Their importance in the economical picture is tremendous.

Not long ago the organization known as "Women Investors in America" made public some extremely arresting figures bearing on the matter. The organization is keenly concerned about their rights as investors and taxpayers, and as to safeguarding their holdings in the nation's wealth and prosperity.

It may surprise you to hear that American women own almost as much stock in our large corporations as is owned by the men. Of 40 large corporations, for example, there are slightly more than 2,000,000 men stockholders and nearly 1,900,000 women stockholders. The men own 100,000,000 shares and the women 75,000,000.

Take one great corporation; the General Electric Company has 89,000 men stockholders owning 9,700,000 shares, as against 76,000 women stockholders owning a little more than 8,000,000 shares.

Women, therefore, have a tremendous stake in American industry. And the principal purpose of the Organization of Women Investors in America is to take an emphatic stand against self-seeking politicians, demagogues and radicals who, by taxation measures, they charge, aim to destroy the life savings invested in private enterprise—life savings, these determined ladies assert, which have been made possible through the courage, self-denial and thrift of women.

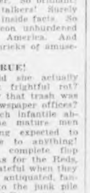
These intelligent women assert that they are becoming more and more amazed and terrified at the continued apparent failure to recognize and accept words of counsel and the warnings of tax experts and practical, experienced business men, while listening instead to theorists and professors whose experience has been confined to politics or the dogmatics of the schoolroom, rather than to the hard facts of business.

Their doubts and fears may have an important bearing on the presidential election. For remember that more than 20 million women have a right to vote in these United States. They own 70 per cent of the wealth of the country; 90 per cent of the insurance policies now in effect are in their names. They have billions of dollars invested in savings banks, trust funds and real estate. And they serve this plain warning: "We will use mass meetings, the press and the radio to clean up the financial litter and confusion which male muddlers have brought about."

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Little Mrs. Widgeon is worried. It began with all these strikes—labor riots—Communist round-ups. Was or wasn't America going on the rocks?



Elsie Robinson

Little Mrs. Widgeon had never thought much about America before. Didn't even try to know the why or wherefore of these United States . . . took their power and glory for granted. Now, with sudden terror, she believed power and glory crumbling. Felt as a child might feel, seeing its mother beaten. Surely she must do something about it right away!

Then, last week, she met some "perfectly wonderful people" at a dinner. A professor, a doctor and a lady lawyer. So brilliant! Such marvelous talkers! Surely they'd know the inside facts. So little Mrs. Widgeon unburdened her heart about America. And was met with shrieks of amusement!

COULD IT BE TRUE!

Poor child, did she actually believe all that frightful rot? Didn't she know that trash was fabricated in newspaper offices? Patriotism? Such infantile absurdity! Imagine mature men and women being expected to swear allegiance to anything!

Particularly a complete flop like America! As for the Reds, she should be grateful when they kicked the whole antiquated, fantastical mess into the junk pile and set up a Real Government.

Wide-eyed, gaping, little Mrs. Widgeon listened. It couldn't be true! But—yes, it must! Brilliant, experienced people like these couldn't possibly be mistaken. But how brave they were to face such dreadful facts—and what a goose she had been not to see the truth long before.

But she wouldn't be a goose any more. She too, would be emancipated . . . rise above these childish notions of patriotism . . . see America as it really was . . . be a radical like all the other "real thinkers."

So now little Mrs. Widgeon is a radical. And I do not agree.

Yes, lady, I do NOT—with whoops and hisses! But it's not your fault. You're just one more victim of an increasing tribe of spineless, sneering smarties, "WINDY NINNIES"

Brave—wise—those boys? Piffle! No more ignorant, cowardly crew exists within our borders than these "Parlor Pinks." Their days have been largely spent in the coddling confines of some campus, or with some milk-fed specimens of their kind. They were educated at the expense of the nation they despise and are still eating off it.

THEY SCORN TO SWEAR ALLEGIANCE TO AMERICA—BUT JUST TRY AND DEPRIVE THEM OF ANY OF THE PRIVILEGES AND PROTECTION DUE AMERICAN CITIZENS, AND SEE WHAT HAPPENS.

For an honest anarchist armed with a bomb, I have no admiration, but I do respect his sincerity. That goes likewise for other extremists who've committed themselves whole-heartedly to programs which seem insane to me. BUT THESE SHALLOW SHOW-OFFS WHO GO IN FOR RADICALISM AS THEY'D TAKE UP TAP-DANCING OR THE LATEST HOLLYWOOD DIET, ROUSE MY IRE.

The Parlor Pink has neither interest in nor knowledge of the conditions he condemns. He is not out to "save" anything except his own comfortable life—or to expose anything except his own tonsils.

While honest workers starve and decent statesmen sweat, these WINDY NINNIES strut around and sling hot air. They would seem beneath contempt were it not for the fact that their professional standing gives them dangerous influence over simpler, more sincere souls.

Of all the parasites who fatten upon this nation while real Americans battle in the trenches, these are the most contemptible.
